9 A-GRADES FOR CANCER FIGHTER JOE

Lump in neck discovered in February

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsexnews.co.uk

A CANCER diagnosis did not stop brave Joe Sims from achieving a crop of A* and A GCSE grades.

When the 16-year-old, from Chalfinor, Harlow, found a lump in his neck in February, he feared his chances of succeeding in the summer's exams had been ruined.

The diagnosis of a rare form of Hodgkins lymphoma in April meant the lump had to be removed immediately just weeks before his exams, and Joe was given the all-clear.

However, a second lump soon appeared which has been confirmed as cancerous and so Joe now faces a course of chemotherapy.

He said: "It has all been a bit of a blur. I was told I would be having chemo and would miss my exams so I did take my foot off the pedal for a while.

"I cared more about my health than the grades at the time. I have tried to get on with things as much as possible. Everyone has been really supportive which has been really important to me."

Despite his health battle, Joe picked up nine A* and A grades from Burnt Mill Academy in First Avenue, Harlow.

Joe said: "I was not expecting these results at all. I was expecting to get through, but not exceed like this. I am feeling pretty good."

His proud mum Amanda Sims, who collected Joe's results with him, said: "I can't believe it really. Nobody deserves this success more than Joe. He is so hard-working. I always knew he would do well, but because of everything he is going through, I wasn't so sure.

Fuss

"He has let his illness go over his head and hasn't wanted a fuss to be made. He doesn't want to be labelled as the boy with cancer.

"Lots of people around him don't even know what he's been going through. He has had a few days off school but he has just got on with it."

Joe has managed to secure the top grades due in part to his hard work, but also the support of his friends and Burnt Mill.

Mrs Sims added: "All he has been focusing on is getting the grades to get into college and looking into universities.

"Burnt Mill has been out of this world. I emailed the school when Joe was diagnosed and immediately got a phone call in return. They have supported him 100 per cent; whatever he has needed they have sorted for him. I get a phone call from his teacher every other day to make sure everything is ok and I think that support will continue even though he has now left.

"I told Joe to expect his friends to back off a little when they knew he was ill but instead they have said if he loses his hair due to treatment, they will all shave their heads in support."

Joe hopes to study A-level mathematics, physics, computer science and drama at Herts and Essex High School in Bishop's Stortford.

Head of school John Blaney said: "We are just so proud of Joe. His strength of character and determination has got him through. We are proud of all of our students, but especially so of Joe with everything he is going through."

Stabbing in town centre

A MAN received hospital treatment for a stab wound after he was attacked in Harlow town centre on Saturday.

The victim, who is in his 20s, was found by police officers on patrol in the Five Acres area of the town in the early hours of the morning.

Police said he had been attacked in the Water Gardens after being followed there by a group of eight men and two girls.

He suffered a small puncture wound to his ribs but his injuries were not life-threatening.

The incident happened at about 3.45am. Anyone with information about the attack is asked to contact detectives at Harlow police station on the non-emergency 101 number or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

AN e-fit image of a man who followed a schoolboy after he refused to hand over his mobile phone has been released.

HOOD: E-fit of man sought by police

The young victim was walking home along Tendring Road, Harlow, at 3.45pm on Wednesday, June 17 when he was approached from behind by the man.

The suspect unzipped the boy's rucksack and demanded his phone and keys. The youngster refused and ran off but was followed by the suspect.

Police say the man is in his mid-20s, 5ft 11ins tall and skinny. He was wearing black leather gloves, a navy blue hooded top with a white letter T on the back, ripped black trousers and black shoes. Anyone with information should call Harlow CID on 101.

Kids show their street cred at summer dance school

harlowstar.co.uk

YOUNGSTERS were put through their paces when Harlow-based dance school Hip Hop Pop held a three-day summer course at Passmores Academy.

Working with five of Hip Hop Pop's tutors including proprietor and professional choreographer Jenny Bater-Sinclair, the 60-strong group of six-15 year olds spent the three days learning various dance styles.

They rounded off the course by staging a final performance piece which they showcased to an audience of more than 100 family and friends.

Themed around the military, it opened with a first call-style drill march and included routines set to songs such as Seven Nation Army, Harder Better Faster Stronger, and Salute.

Ms Bater-Sinclair said: "Not only was it a success in terms of it being completely full, it was a complete success in its delivery.

"Our tutors work extremely hard to give students the best possible street dance education in a safe environment whilst giving them an immensely fun and confidence-building experience.

"The students involved were an absolute joy to work with over the three days and they put their all into it."

She added: "Their final performance was incredible and all the students involved should be so proud."

Paper permit scrapped for new digital system

Residents asked to sign up online for 'virtual parking permits'

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

PAPER residents' parking permits in Harlow are to be phased out and replaced by a digital system.

Starting on Monday, the North Essex Parking Partnership (NEPP) will be introducing a cashless online registration system for permit parking schemes in a bid to be more efficient.

Those who currently display a badge in their car will in future log their car online, while visitors can be registered either online, using a smartphone app or with a text.

Residents purchasing visitor permits via the MiPermit system will also save money, with 10 virtual visitor permits costing £10 as opposed to £15.

The scheme has already been successfully introduced in Braintree, Colchester, Epping Forest, Tendring and Uttlesford. It is now about to be rolled out in Harlow.

Anyone who does not yet hold a MiPermit account will need to provide the NEPP with proof of residency and register on the system before purchasing any permits.

These customers, as well as anyone who is unable to register their own account such as residents without internet access, should call the NEPP on 01206 282316 for help.

Once registered, the secure account allows customers to manage purchases and update details, and buy visitor permits through their MiPermit account.

For existing resident permit holders, their permit renewal reminders will explain the new system and outline how quick and easy it is to renew online through MiPermit.

Councillor Robert Mitchell, chairman of the North Essex Parking Partnership, said "We are really pleased to be able to offer Harlow's residents the option to buy virtual parking permits.

"These permits are now available in all of the partnership authorities' areas and allow customers to access these services at their convenience.

"The system is also more cost-effective for us as an organisation and therefore helps keep permit prices stable."

Councillor Tony Durcan, portfolio holder for regeneration and enterprise at Harlow Council, said: "This new system is great news for our residents as it will help them to get the permits they need more quickly and without having to take a trip into the Civic Centre to purchase them.

"We hope that residents find this new way of buying their permits convenient and easy to use, and offers many people who may struggle to get to the Civic Centre with the solution they need."

Troops welcomed home with town centre parade

Regiment to exercise right bestowed by councillors in 2012

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsexnews.co.uk

TROOPS from the Royal Anglian Regiment 1st Battalion will exercise their Freedom of Harlow for the first time later this year.

More than 200 soldiers returning from active duty in Afghanistan will march through Harlow Town Centre on Thursday, October 22.

Members of the public are invited to line the streets to show their support for service personnel and their families.

The day will also be a chance for the town to remember resident Private Robert Foster, pictured, who was killed in Afghanistan while serving with the 1st Battalion.

Fighting

Private Foster, died alongside Private John Thumble, 21, from Chelmsford, and Private Aaron McClure, 19, from Ipswich, when a US plane bombed their position during fighting on August 23, 2007.

Councillor Tony Hall, Chairman of Harlow Council, said: "On October 22 history will be made with the Royal Anglian Regiment exercising its freedom to march through

PARADE: Troops from the Royal Anglian Regiment 1st Battalion will march through Harlow on Thursday, October 22

Harlow for the very first time. This will be an important occasion for Harlow and at a time when the soldiers have just returned home from active service.

"I hope as many people as possible line the route to thank and cheer our troops for their bravery and service and welcome them home, but also to remember Robert Foster and those troops who are no longer with us."

The Regiment was bestowed the Freedom of the Town by Harlow Council on September 27, 2012, which allows it to march through Harlow with bands playing, drums beating, colours flying and bayonets fixed.

This will be the first time the Regiment has exercised the Freedom of the Town.

The last soldiers from the 1st Battalion, known as 'The Vikings', returned home from Kabul on 19 August 2015 after the conclusion of their deployment on Operation Toral.

After leave, the soldiers will be celebrating their homecoming with three parades in the Battalion's counties.

In Harlow around 250 troops will march from Post Office Road through Broad Walk to the Civic Centre, where the parade will be inspected.

The march will be the second through the Town Centre after the Essex Yeomanry exercised its right in April 2009. The parade will take place at 12.30pm.

Further information on the parade route will appear on the council's website - www.harlow.gov.uk - and in the Star nearer the time.

Choose the name of latest recruit to police's dog unit

A LITTER of new canine recruits has been unveiled by Essex Police - and now Harlow residents are being given the chance to name one of them.

Police dog Flame gave birth to eight healthy puppies - five dogs and three bitches - at the force's dog unit at Sandon near Chelmsford earlier this month. Trainers at the unit picked names beginning with the letter C for the seven

- Cilla, Cola and Cairo for the girls and Carter, Chester, Cain and Comet for the boys. Now the public are asked to choose between Chaos, Cuba, Casper or Costa for the eighth. Votes must be cast at www.essex.police.uk/puppypoll by midday on Tuesday, September 1.

Inspector Brad Dickel from the dog unit said: "The puppies are all doing well and Flame is proving to be a fantastic mum."

Lorry driver charged for M11 double death crash

M11: A lorry driver has been charged with causing death by dangerous driving following a crash on the M11 in which two people died.

Three cars, a horsebox and a lorry were involved in the pile-up on the northbound carriageway of the motorway between Harlow and Bishop's Stortford in May of last year.

Geoffrey Mills, 53, and his sister Eleanor Mills, 45, were killed when the car in which they were travelling was struck by other vehicles. Two other people were seriously injured.

Roger Sharratt, 50, of Bagots Oak, Staffordshire, has now been charged with two counts of causing death by dangerous driving. He was bailed to appear at Colchester Magistrates' Court on Tuesday, October 6.

Why we should work together

SIR I was delighted to read in the Star about the initiative introduced by Conservative group leader Cllr Andrew Johnson to save Harlow town centre. I was equally thrilled to read the pledge by Labour's regeneration portfolio holder for regeneration Tony Durcan to join the campaign and the fact Labour are rallying behind Robert Halfon's campaign for free wi-fi across the town. It gives one a sense of pride in our elected membership.

Having previously been a Harlow councillor who prided myself on working across the political divide, I know it will take the will of all council members from all parties to deliver real progress and make Harlow town centre great again.

Having been a member in the dark days of 2004 when co-operation between members was virtually non-existent, it is truly heartening to see one party launch a campaign and watch as other parties sign up to it.

Only by working together with all parties, our MP, the community, services users, business, community groups and the Harlow Star can these things be achieved. It is wonderful to see the level of harmony, trust and willingness that now exists between different parties that was sadly lacking in the past.

John Paul Goddard
Church Langley, Harlow

Will we be given a tax rebate?

SIR Last year the Labour administration put up council tax for another year to raise £100,000 to keep the street lights on past midnight.

When both myself and my Conservative colleagues asked if Essex County Council would accept this, we were informed that high level discussions had taken place between the leaders Harlow Council and Essex County Council and that the county council had agreed to the lights going back on. The price was a few pounds shy of £100,000.

Not prepared to accept his first answer, we asked a number of times leading up to the budget whether the county council had agreed to this change and the answer was the same each time – yes. So you can imagine our surprise when, six months on, we find out that Essex County Council had made no agreement to turn the lights back on. Now desperately back peddling, the leader of Harlow Council tells us he is working as hard as he can to resolve the situation.

It turns out he had merely had preliminary discussions with the county council and no formal undertaking to keep the lights on had been made. However, in the meantime £100,000 has been taken from Harlow taxpayers with no legitimate justification. My question is simple: will the taxpayers of Harlow be getting a rebate anytime soon? I think we know what the answer will be – no!

Cllr Russell Perrin (Conservative)
Harlow Civic Centre

Only one will end austerity

SIR Every Labour Party member and registered supporter in Harlow who genuinely opposes cuts in public services, health and welfare ought to support Jeremy Corbyn, the only candidate for leader unambiguously committed to reversing these cuts.

The other candidates oppose reversing the cuts imposed by the Conservative-Liberal Democrat coalition and the current Tory government and recently refused to vote against the latest disgraceful attack on the working poor.

Kendall, Cooper and Burnham are stuck in the past, desperately clinging to the discredited neo-liberal dogma that caused the collapse of Lehman Brothers in September 2008 and precipitated the greatest economic crash since 1929 from which we have yet to recover.

Austerity has failed to restore prosperity, instead worsening poverty and inequality and damaging the very fabric of our society.

To vote for Corbyn is to join the wave of the future sweeping Europe as increasing numbers of people across the continent reject the deadly austerity medicine peddled by the neo-liberal snake oil merchants.

John Wake
address supplied

We don't want short-term fix

SIR I think it's about time some old fashioned common sense and proper planning are put into place for the benefit of Harlow.

We need any improvements that are to be made to our town to be made with thoughts to the future and not as a short-term fix. For this to be achieved it should not have any particular political agenda or backing but it needs to be for the benefit of the town as a whole.

I have lived in Harlow for many years, but other than Sir Frederick Gibberd's future town plans I can't see sign of town planning taking place.

The new M11 Junction 7a is a shortsighted farce. Essex and Hertfordshire county councils and the Government need to get together to back and fund a northern bypass that has clearly been required for years.

The town centre clearly needs some major improvements. Maybe Harlow Council and Essex County Council should get together and seek some ideas from people who have them.

Craig Malyon
Church Langley, Harlow

Rule change is bad for health

SIR A crisis is looming in our hospitals, our care homes and our community nursing services. Nurses recruited from outside the EU since 2011, who provide vital care to our region's patients, face being removed from the country if they are not earning at least £35,000 after six years.

The Government's changes to immigration rules make no sense in a profession such as nursing where few can hope to achieve such a wage.

These nurses, recruited at a cost of thousands of pounds to the NHS, are filling gaps in our workforce we cannot fill ourselves due to cuts to nurse training.

Without their help our services would grind to a halt with potentially catastrophic consequences. Across Essex hundreds of nursing staff could be affected, in turn damaging services and compromising the safety of patients.

The Royal College of Nursing is calling on the Government to act now to address this anomaly by ensuring nurses are among the professions exempt from this rule and also by increasing training places so we are less reliant on other countries, many of which will have their own challenges providing health services.

These nurses have come to our region to care for us, our families, our friends. We must act now to protect them and the services they provide if we are to avert a crisis.

Sam Neville,
Essex branch of Royal College of Nursing

Council is right to licence HMOs

SIR Harlow Council is right to licence all houses in multiple occupation (HMOs). There have been too many cases of badly managed HMOs creating all sorts of problems for neighbours.

Why should a private landlord make money while neighbours pay the price in terms of nuisance? You can be sure you won't find many of the landlords living next to the houses they rent out.

HMOs are at high risk of creating problems for neighbours and communities with parking, noise, rubbish, uncared for gardens and scruffy external appearance.

Council officers will follow up cases of poorly managed properties if neighbours contact them with concerns. This will be good for neighbours and tenants, while good landlords have nothing to fear.

Sheila Sullivan
Orchard Croft, Harlow

Summer break is far too long

SIR The amount of vandalism in Harlow is unreal. Two bus shelters in Abercrombie Way have smashed to pieces; what is wrong with these people?

Yobs climb trees and smash off the branches while their parents stand and watch. The Milwards estate looks like the civic amenity tip with rubbish everywhere.

The school summer holidays are too long. They don't know what to do but smash everything they get their hands on and they don't care how much noise they make.

Engineer Tony solves case of curious kitten

A DRAINAGE engineer helped to avert a potential cat-astrophe when he helped to rescue a nine-week-old kitten.

Curious kitten George, who had only been at his owner's home for one day, jumped through a hole in the sink into a cavity wall.

It was not until the owner heard meowing in the garage, that they realised the kitten had travelled up to the roof.

In a panic she called a cat protection charity for advice and was informed the best course of action would be to seek the help of drainage and plumbing firm Dyno. And so she called her local franchise, AMG Southern Services in Harlow.

Dyno drainage engineer Tony Bodell, who had previously freed another customer's cat that was stuck under floorboards, responded to the call.

After four challenging hours, Tony eventually rescued George and was able to pluck him from the roof and reunite him with his owner.

Bob celebrating 50 years at PAH

Porter started work at hospital back in 1965

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

A 67-YEAR-OLD granddad is celebrating working for 50 years at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital.

When Bob Parsons, who lives in the town, first started working at the hospital as a porter it had only recently opened to patients.

PAH, which at the time was called simply Harlow Hospital, was built in three stages from 1958 to 1966 and started taking patients in January 1965.

One of the highlights of the hospital's first year was the official opening by Princess Alexandra on April 27, 1965 – a day which Mr Parsons remembers well.

"I was here when Princess Alexandra actually opened the hospital and I also got to meet her," he said.

Father-of-two Mr Parsons, who has three grandchildren, said he loved everything about working at the hospital, adding that his dedication and passion for helping patients was what had kept him there for the past 50 years.

VALUED: Bob Parsons has been working at PAH for 50 years

Even though he has now passed retirement age, he has no plans to wind down. "I reduced my hours slightly a couple of years ago because I want to stay working here as long as possible," he said.

Mr Parsons' manager, Diane Clarke, said he was popular with his colleagues.

"They think the world of Bob up in the emergency department," she said. "He is extremely reliable and always has a smile on his face when patients come through the door."

"He makes them feel at ease, always communicating with them so they are not confused."

"He always introduces himself to the patient where he is taking them."

She added: "Bob really is a valued member of staff who gets on extremely well with all the nursing staff and management."

Stabbing accused must wait seven months for retrial

A MAN accused of attempting to murder his flatmate by stabbing him in the neck with a kitchen knife must wait a further seven months for a retrial at Chelmsford Crown Court.

Earlier this month a jury at Chelmsford Crown Court failed to reach a verdict in the case of Michael McFarlane, 59, of Halling Hill, Harlow, who denies attempted murder and wounding with intent to cause grievous bodily harm.

He admitted a charge of unlawfully wounding 52-year-old Graham Botfield.

A new trial, which is expected to last for five days, will start on March 14 next year.

Nominations sought for first Best of West health awards

NOMINATIONS are wanted for a new awards scheme recognising the outstanding contributions made by people who have had a positive effect on the health and wellbeing of the district.

NHS West Essex Clinical Commissioning Group, which covers the districts of Harlow, Epping Forest and Uttlesford, has launched its Best of West Awards to celebrate the work of community members, groups, volunteers, frontline health and care professionals and health-care leaders.

There are 12 categories covering various aspects of health care including education, volunteers, community projects, unsung heroes, people's professionals and patient ambassadors.

Clare Morris, chief officer at NHS West Essex CCG, said: "This is our way of saying thank you to people in Harlow, Epping Forest and Uttlesford for their efforts in keeping themselves, their family or their local community well."

Nominations close on Friday, September 4 and, can be made at www.westsexccg.nhs.uk.

Winners, will be announced at the CCG's annual meeting at Harlow Leisurezone on Thursday, September 24, with two to be decided by a public vote.

Police seek witnesses to town centre assault

HARLOW: Witnesses to an assault in the town centre which left a 22-year-old man with a broken jaw are being sought by police.

The victim, who lives in the town, had been involved in an argument with another man outside the JD Sports store near the Water Gardens. They then moved into Broad Walk and then Terminus Street via the walkway beside Boots.

The assault happened at about 3pm on Tuesday, August 11 when the area would have been busy with shoppers.

A 19-year-old man from Harlow was arrested on suspicion of assault and has been bailed until Wednesday, October 21.

Anybody who witnessed the incident is asked to contact PC Jo Snell at Harlow CID on 101.

Chance to meet Peppa

HARLOW: Children's favourite Peppa Pig will be in the Harvey Centre on Saturday.

Peppa, along with brother George, and Mummy and Daddy Pig, will be meeting shoppers at intervals between 11am and 4pm. There will also be children's activities, free face painting and an arts and crafts workshop.

Advice for pet owners

HARLOW: A series of free workshops for pet owners wanting advice on nutrition and health will be held at the town's branch of Pets at Home at the St James' Centre off Edinburgh Way this weekend.

The 20-minute workshops, which will offer advice on the most nutritious food for cats and dogs, will take place at 11am and 3pm on Saturday and again on Monday.

Flags fly at half mast after crash

Jet in airshow tragedy was based at North Weald

Ken Morley

star@hertssexnews.co.uk

FLAGS at North Weald Airfield are flying at half mast for the second time in less than a month following the horror crash at the Shoreham Air Show.

The vintage Hawker Harrier jet which ploughed into traffic on the A27 in West Sussex, killing 11 people, was based at the airfield.

Epping Forest Council, which owns the site, also lowered flags at its offices in High Street as a mark of respect to those who lost their lives.

Saturday's tragedy is the second this month to involve planes based at the village airfield. Pilot Kevin Whyman, 39, a member of the Gnat Display Team, died when his plane crashed during the CarFest show at Oulton Park in Cheshire.

The jet which crashed at the weekend was being flown by former RAF Harrier pilot Andy Hill, who was pulled alive from the wreckage.

As the Star went to press yesterday (Wednesday) the 51-year-old, who is known among the aviation community at North Weald Airfield, was still in a critical condition after being placed in a medically induced coma.

This week investigators began the grim task of examining the wreckage of the Harrier in an attempt to

On Monday the Civil Aviation Authority grounded all Hawker Hunters and imposed an immediate ban on high energy aerobatics by vintage jet aircraft.

In a statement released shortly after it was confirmed the jet was based at North Weald, Epping Forest Council leader Chris Whitbread said: "I was deeply saddened and shocked to hear of this tragic event and my condolences and prayers are with the families and friends of all those involved.

"North Weald Airfield is a close-knit community and our staff and other pilots are devastated at this news."

He added: "We lease hangers to many plane enthusiasts who restore and maintain their specialist aircraft, such as the Hawker Hunter."

Vintage at-tractions pull in the crowds at station

MORE than 1,000 people converged on North Weald station for a vintage vehicle rally.

The event organised by the Epping Ongar Railway gave enthusiasts the chance to get a close-up view of not just cars but tractors, motorbikes, military vehicles, traction engines and stationary engines.

"This is the first event like this that we have held in terms of including all types of different vehicles," said Dave Horsley, one of the event's organisers.

"We had a fair few classic cars and motorbikes as well as traction engines and we had quite a few passengers on the railway over the weekend, too."

He added: "It will now be an annual thing so we are already looking ahead to next year's event."

Survey on services

ESSEX: Thousands of residents are being invited to have their say on services provided by the county council.

The annual survey, which is being undertaken by independent research and analysis company Qa Research, has been sent out to 15,000 households selected at random to provide a cross section of the county's population.

The survey covers areas such as public services, transport and community safety.

County council leader Cllr David Finch said: "It gives us the opportunity to take stock of views and ensure we are putting our resources where it really matters.

"We can also use the results to track performance and monitor the impact of decisions we make meaning we can respond quickly to what residents tell us."

More school places

ESSEX: Almost £48m has been spent by Essex County Council on creating 3,000 new primary school places and 150 secondary school places for the 2015/16 academic year.

In Harlow, both Holy Cross and The Downs primaries have been extended while a new school, Pembley Academy, is about to open.

Cllr Ray Gooding, cabinet member for education and lifelong learning, said: "Essex is growing rapidly and the demand for school places in the county is also continuing to rise. To meet that demand we are planning to spend about £200m over the next five years on creating extra school places."

Burglary probe leads to discovery of missing pug Lola

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsexnews.co.uk

A PET owner has been reunited with her missing pug by police investigating a series of burglaries and thefts in Harlow.

Officers arrested three people when they executed a search warrant at a location in Fern Hill Lane in Harlow last Wednesday.

Two men aged 34 and 22 and a 23-year-old woman, all from Harlow, were arrested on suspicion of conspiracy to burgle.

The woman was also arrested on suspicion of theft after the pug, called Lola, was found during the searches. The dog was later reunited with her grateful owner, Kate Witham, at Harlow Police Station.

"I had been so worried about Lola since she went missing so when I got the call from the police to say they had found her I was over the moon," she said.

"As soon as I saw her, her little tail went into overdrive and I instantly knew it was her. I am just so happy to have her back."

Police released video footage of

Hospice looks for teams to tee off at its first golf day

FUNDRAISERS at St Clare Hospice are preparing to enter new territory by organising its first-ever golf day.

Teams are needed to take part in the 18-hole tournament which will be held at Abridge Golf Club on Friday, October 16.

It will be the first time the hospice has hosted a golf day aimed exclusively for local businesses and corporate supporters.

After registration, the players will tuck into breakfast before heading out onto the par 72 championship course.

Prizes

Teams will be playing an 18-hole Stableford format and there will be prizes for the first and second placed as well as best individual golfer, nearest the pin and longest drive.

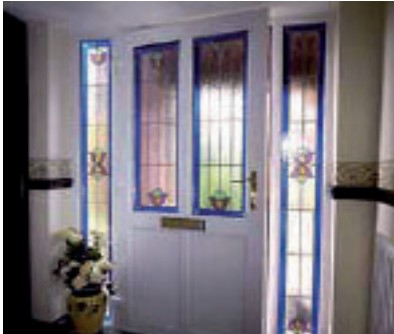

In addition, anyone hitting a hole in one will have the chance to win a car.

The golf will be followed by a two-course dinner, prizegiving and charity raffle and auction.

The event is being organised in conjunction with Loughton-based Planet Leasing and is being supported by golfing experts Leisure Link.

The cost of registration is £340 per team.

To sign up, visit www.stclarehospice.org.uk/ event or call St Clare events fundraiser Heather Cameron on (01279) 773750.

Hard work pays off for pupils

Schools in Harlow celebrate the success and dedication of GCSE students

Gemma Gardner &
William Mata

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

STUDENTS across Harlow were handed their GCSE results on Thursday – and most were pleased with what they found.

The efforts of all pupils were celebrated at Passmores Academy with results largely meeting expectations.

Results were overall slightly down on the 2014 figures but 50 per cent managed to achieve five A*-Cs including mathematics and English.

Some 30 per cent of the GCSEs that were passed with an A*-B grade but headteacher Vic Goddard was keen to emphasise that the exams "were just one part of the school process".

"The results were as expected, and while I would always want more, it's important to remember that it's just a part of their journey, not all of it."

Friends Georgia Goldhawk and Amy Edwards, both 16, were both happy with their results.

"I got two As and six Bs which was great," said Amy, who is hoping to study four A-levels.

Strong individual performances were celebrated at Stewards Academy, who said GCSE results "exceeded expectations".

Star performer Isaac Lucia, 16, achieved an A* in an A-level mathematics after sitting the exam two years early as well as 10 A* grades and five A grades.

He said: "I am so happy with my results and I am so grateful to all my teachers for their unstinting support and inspiration."

Hot on his heels was Kenan Krikic, 16, who achieved six A*-C grades and Holly Humphrys, 16, who scooped seven As and four A*s.

Siblings Tayla, 16, and Bradley, 15, Leathers achieved exactly the same mark of 52 for an A grade in their mathematics GCSE.

Tayla, of Westbury Rise, also gained two A*s, five As and four Bs, which was enough to secure her place at Presdales School in Ware.

Bradley, who trains at the Pauline Quirke Academy in Bishop's Stortford, will study the rest of his GCSEs next year.

Progress and individual success were celebrated by staff at St Mark's West Essex Catholic School after another year of strong results.

Some 15 per cent of pupils achieved at least five A* and A; 59 per cent of pupils achieved at least one A*/A, and 64 per cent of pupils who entered achieved the English Baccalaureate.

Overall 100 per cent of pupils achieved at least one GCSE grade, 52 per cent of students achieved five or more A*-C including mathematics and English.

Headteacher Elaine Heaphy said: "I am proud of every pupil in accepting and meeting the challenges that we at St Mark's continually strive to provide for each of them."

Niharika Sapkota was celebrating nine A* and A grades, while other top performers include Niall Ramphal and Daniel Goddard with 10 A* and A grades, Samantha Chidzizi and Samantha Argent with nine A* and A grades – Niharika Sapkota, and Daniel Robinson, David Gillman, Jessica Edwards and George Banks, who scooped eight A* and A grades.

Mark Hall Academy is "no longer a failing school" according to principal Corinne Franceschi after groundbreaking GCSE figures.

"These are the best results the school has ever had," said Ms Franceschi after 44 per cent of students achieved the benchmark five A*-C passes, including mathematics, and English.

"This was a failing school two years ago, but since I took over and Mark Hall became an academy we have risen by 19 per cent. This is a phenomenal achievement."

Testament to the school's progress is 16-year-old Bethany Plume who was "happy and surprised" to walk away with seven As and two Bs.

Ms Franceschi also celebrated the achievements of Catia Mendes, who achieved a stunning result of four As, four Bs and two Cs just two years after joining the school and not speaking English.

Almost half of the students leaving Burnt Mill Academy this summer scored A* and A grades in their GCSE exams.

An impressive 42 per cent of students at the First Avenue school achieved at least one top grade.

Star student Harry Grace not only has a bumper crop of eight A* and A grade GCSE results to celebrate, but he also scooped an A grade in A-level mathematics last week.

Overall, a total of 80 per cent of students achieved five or more A*-C grades including English and mathematics.

Vladislav Mezentsev, 16, who joined in Year 9 from Russia, bagged an impressive 11 A* and A grades. He is going on to Bishop's Stortford High School to study chemistry, biology, physics and maths mechanics A-levels.

Ashleigh Darling, 16, from Harlow, was expecting to scrape through her exams after being poorly. Instead, she is in the top performers list with eight A* and A grades. She said: "I am so over the moon!"

Helena Mills, head of all Burnt Mill Academy Trust schools, said: "I am delighted these results have opened doors to children which will enable them to follow their dreams."

Students at Saint Nicholas School in Old Harlow are celebrating after achieving outstanding results in their GCSE exams.

Pupils at the independent school achieved an 88 per cent pass rate for those recording at least five GCSEs at grade C and above, including mathematics and English.

Almost a third of all examinations were graded A* or A, and two-thirds were graded at least a B.

Pupils who deserve a particular mention are Zoë Benton who was awarded 7 A*s, 3 As and 2 B grades, Bradley Veitch who gained 6 A*s, 4 As and 1 B grade and Jessie Ayres who achieved 4 A*s, 6 As and 1 B grade.

Shortage of organs for transplant is costing lives

More donors needed to join register

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE shortage of organ donors has meant that 58 people in Essex have died while waiting for a transplant during the past five years.

There are currently 177 people in the county waiting for a donor organ at a time when, according to latest figures, the number of donations across the UK has fallen for the first time in 11 years.

The national figures, highlighted by NHS Blood and Transplant in its annual Transplant Activity Report, show the number of transplants fell by five per cent from 4,655 in 2013/14 to 4,431 in 2014/15.

There were three per cent fewer donations from people who have died and a five per cent drop in living donations. During the same period the number of people on the active transplant list fell by 83.

Of the transplants that were carried out, 1,092 were made possible by living donors who gave a kidney or part of their liver, while 3,339 patients received organs donated after death.

On average, three people in the UK die each day while waiting for an organ transplant.

In Essex, 80 people's lives were saved or improved following the donation of an organ from someone who has died while 31 benefitted from a living donor transplant. There are 580,325 people from Essex on the NHS Organ Donor Register.

But NHS Blood and Transplant said even more lives would have been saved if families agreed to donate their loved one's organs after death.

Sally Johnson, NHS Blood and Transplant's director of organ donation and transplantation, said: "We cannot hope to save more lives unless there is a revolution in attitudes towards organ donation. We need everyone to talk about organ donation with their families and agree to donate if ever they are asked."

"We understand that families are expected to consider donation in their darkest hour so we would remind everyone to tell those closest to them now if they want to donate their organs and record that decision."

To sign up to the NHS Organ Donor Register, visit www.organdonation.nhs.uk or call 0300 123 2323.

Fire service invests in new thermal cameras

FIRE crews in Essex are being equipped with the latest thermal imaging cameras after the county's fire and rescue service bought 80 of the high-tech appliances.

The cameras are used to search for people trapped in smoke-filled rooms and can find and eliminate hotspots hidden behind walls or in roof spaces.

The service has already invested more than £1m in new breathing apparatus and radio sets and is planning to spend a further £8m on pumping appliances.

Acting chief fire officer

CAMERA CREWS: Representatives of suppliers Scott Safety deliver the new equipment to the fire service

Adam Eckley said: "The thermal imaging cameras are the best on the market. They are the latest investment we have made in our frontline crews' safety and ensuring we provide a robust response to all emergency incidents."

Festival police seize 17,000 'legal highs'

SIXTY-three people were arrested and 248 were ejected during the V-Festival in Chelmsford at the weekend.

Essex Police also seized more than 17,000 canisters of nitrous oxide or laughing gas, also known as 'legal highs'.

The majority of the arrests – 53 – were for drug-related offences, many of which were identified by police sniffer dogs at the entrance to the site at Hylands Park.

One festival-goer was arrested on suspicion of rape. Chief Superintendent Simon Williams said: "I'm really pleased with the great co-ordination work from all our officers with the organisers, security team and local authority who worked tirelessly to ensure the event was both enjoyable and safe."

Stuntman's zipwire thrill

A PROFESSIONAL stuntman has set a record speed of 119mph on the world's fastest zipline.

Daredevil Nicholas Daines, pictured left, took just 48 seconds to complete the 1,000-metre distance on the wire which is suspended more than 500ft above the ground in the Snowdonia National Park in north Wales.

Nicholas, who has appeared in a number of top films including Harry Potter and James Bond, was raising money for the Orangutan Appeal UK. He decided he wanted to help the charity after he took a trip to Borneo to see for himself the plight of the Orangutans which live there.

"It was a real rush reaching speeds of over 100mph," he said after completing the challenge. "I really enjoyed it."

"It was a wonderful way to raise funds for Orangutan Appeal UK and celebrate International Orangutan Day."

School mourns death of former teacher aged 32

Head pays tribute to dedicated professional

Elizabeth Reeve

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

TRIBUTES have been paid to a "fantastic" former teacher at Leventhorpe School in Sawbridgeworth who has died at the age of 32 after battling a brain tumour.

Tunde Oyediran trained to be a teacher at the Cambridge Road secondary, starting in September 2010.

He later worked as an ICT and business studies teacher until December 2013 when he moved to the Petchey Academy in Hackney, which was close to his home.

Leventhorpe headteacher Jon Locke said: "Tunde was a wonderful person and a truly dedicated professional. He worked tirelessly for his students, always going the extra mile to support them as well as being a fantastic form tutor, caring deeply about every child in his care.

"However, his most memorable characteristic was his unwavering optimism and positivity. Tunde saw the best in every student and every person he worked with.

"He always had a smile and a word of encouragement for his students and colleagues. Consequently he was an incredibly popular member of staff."

Mr Locke added: "Tunde's death is truly a tragedy and will deeply sadden the whole Leventhorpe School community. Our thoughts will be with his wife and family."

Olivia Cole, principal at Petchey Academy where Mr Oyediran had worked since January last year, said everyone there was shocked by his death.

"He was a like a breath of fresh air and we had enormous expectations of him which he had already started to realise in his short time with us," she said.

"However daunting the road ahead, he took on the challenges with a smile and great strength of character. I'm sure he faced his shocking illness with similar resilience and positivity.

"I was enormously fond of him right from the start and looked forward to getting to know him better."

A service to celebrate the life of Mr Oyediran was held at St Luke's Church in West Holloway on Saturday.

Man prosecuted for tree damage is hit with a fine

HOUSEHOLDERS intending to carry out work on trees have been warned to check they are not covered by a preservation order after a man was fined £600 for damaging a red horse chestnut.

The defendant, who did not attend when the case was heard at Chelmsford Magistrates Court last month, was also ordered to pay costs of £804.31 and a victim surcharge of £60.

After Epping Forest Council was alerted to damage to the tree at the entrance to a property in Bower Hill in January, the council's tree specialist carried out an inspection. He found a number of the tree's roots had been severed and damaged by a mechanical digger and a saw.

The council attempted to contact the owner of the property but was unable to speak to him. Despite telling workmen on the site to stop and sending a letter to the defendant, further work and tree damage was found when the officer re-visited the site on three subsequent occasions and so the council started legal proceedings.

Councillor Gary Waller, Epping Forest Council's portfolio holder responsible for tree, said: "Trees are a very important local asset and form a vital part of the fabric of our environment as well as creating a habitat for wildlife.

"Tree preservation orders are made to protect trees that could be under threat and nobody is permitted to carry out work without consent. We will seek to hold to account anyone who deliberately damages a protected tree."

Family party as Eric celebrates his 100th

Birthday bash is a day to remember for centenarian

Elizabeth Reeve

star@hertssexnews.co.uk

FAMILY and friends gathered to toast the health and achievements of a man who has celebrated his 100th birthday.

There was a party atmosphere at the supported housing complex in Sawbridgeworth where Eric Sheldrake has lived for the past 15 years.

Family members among the 70 people who attended the celebrations included his daughters Elizabeth and Joy, grandsons, Christopher and Matthew and great-granddaughters, Matilda and Elsa.

"He had a fabulous time and said he would never forget it," said Elizabeth.

Mr Sheldrake was born in Maldon on August 20, 1915 and after leaving school worked for a local firm of builders and timber merchants. In 1936 he met his bride-to-be, Dorothy, in a cake shop in Maldon High Street and they married four years later.

Shortly before the wedding Mr Sheldrake moved to Sawbridgeworth to work for Walter Lawrence and Sons at the then joinery works in Sheering Mill Lane.

His job was classed as a reserved occupation as the company made parts for Mosquito bombers and so he did not receive his call-up papers. However, he served as a member of the Home Guard in Sawbridgeworth during the war years.

After 33 years with the firm he took voluntary redundancy and moved to a new job at United Glass in Harlow. It suited him better as it included shift work which gave him more time for his hobby of gardening.

After retiring, his garden kept him busy and he also cared for wife, who sadly passed away in 2004. "In the last few years he has had to cope with being registered blind and extremely deaf but he has still remained determined," said daughter Joy.

"He still continues to take an interest in people and help them as much as he can. He is still very knowledgeable about the world as he keeps up with the news on television."

She added: "He has worked hard and he has enjoyed his family. Still today he is determined for things not to beat him and this is maybe why he is now celebrating his 100th birthday."

Have a say on plans to scrap ticket office at village station

RAIL users are being given the chance to express their views on proposed changes which are due to take place at Roydon Station later this year.

Train operator Abellio Greater Anglia has drawn up a programme of work for the station which includes the removal of the ticket office as part of the redevelopment of the London-bound platform and new waiting facilities with customer information displays.

In addition, a member of staff will be present at peak times to provide passenger information, help with ticket machines and to assist passengers with mobility difficulties.

The work is due to start in the autumn.

Under the train operator's Ticketing and Settlement Agreement, the independent watchdog London TravelWatch has a statutory role to assess the impact and make recommendations if proposals are made to close station facilities within the capital's railway area.

Anyone wanting to comment on the proposals should email londontravelwatch.org.uk by Monday (August 31).

PUNK ROCK
Victoria Hall Theatre, Bury Road, Old Harlow
Wednesday, September 16 - Saturday, September 19 (8pm)
£10 (£7.50 concessions)

Harlow Theatre Company presents Punk Rock, an edgy play written by Simon Stephens. Set in the library of a fee-paying grammar school, it tells the story of seven sixth-formers who are revising for their mock A-levels. As they face the end of their school lives, a gathering tension builds during which insecurities, rivalries, desires and envy escalate.

TO younger readers, the name Leo Sayer may only bring back a vague recollection of a man who was on Celebrity Big Brother 10 years ago. But back in the 1970s, '80s and '90s he was a global signing sensation with a Grammy Award and five number ones hits to his name.

Since moving permanently to Australia in 2009, Leo has somewhat dropped off the radar on these shores, but armed with a new album, Sayer is back with renewed thunder in his heart.

With a September date at The Playhouse in Harlow, the British pop legend has a stellar show lined up as part of a UK tour.

At 67, Leo now considers himself too old to break what he calls 'The Voice culture' but in Restless Years he's produced an album that offers social commentary and an observation on life.

Now hfree from the demands of the pop machine, he has time to craft and perfect his creations to release something he is really proud of.

"I'm trying to use my wisdom to make songs about issues that people will understand and learn something from," he said.

"There was a time last year when I thought it was time to make a new record. Some of the songs are brand new while others were written (a decade ago) with Albert Hammond.

"There is one song Sometimes Things Go Wrong that was written back in 1975 that is on the album too. Sometimes there are songs (that don't sound right at the time) you can find and re-discover.

"I played Sometimes Things Go Wrong to the band and they liked it very much, so we re-recorded it."

As an accomplished songwriter and producer, Leo's hardworking hands-on approach to making music has always stood him apart from his contemporaries.

While many '70s and '80s stars reliant on the songwriting of others have fallen by the wayside, Leo's self-dependence has ensured his longevity.

"I'm a slow worker because I like to get it right," he said of the process making Restless Years.

"Call me old-fashioned, but my way of making albums is always to make a collection of songs over a period of time with a varied vibe. It's what The Beatles used to do.

"Because of my age, I'm not at the forefront anymore and I won't be appearing on The Voice any time soon.

"Also, releasing independently, I don't have the budget to force my way onto TV, but having an established fanbase, there are always people that will listen.

LEO feels like dancing

"I'm actually enjoying it now more than ever."

Restless Years was a surprise success when it broke into the top 40 of the Australian album chart in January to become Leo's first chart entry since 1983. With an album teaser video notching up the views on YouTube, he is hopeful of repeating the success when his 14th studio LP gets its UK release on Friday, September 4.

Leo Sayer was such a big name that throughout the 1980s and 1990s that he toured all over the world in places as far and wide as Tokyo, Hawaii, Alaska and Vietnam - but he believes his concert at The Playhouse on Saturday, September 26 will be his first time in Harlow.

While he's long since ditched the pierrot costume he famously wore on his debut TV performance, Leo has lost nothing of his passion for the stage and says his show is better than ever.

"I'm a very motivated person and I have a desire to keep bettering myself, making the next album better than the last one.

Linkfest organiser hoping for sunshine on Sunday

ORGANISERS of the third and final LinkFest music festival of the year are praying for sunshine to reverse their fortunes.

The one-day gatherings at Harlow Town Park have all suffered as a result of rain showers dampening some great live music.

With washed-out May and July festivals drawing little audience to the bandstand, LinkFest co-ordinator Jamie Pring hopes it will be third time lucky on Sunday.

"The weather does not look too bad and I'm hoping it doesn't rain," he said.

"The weather has stopped people from coming and I felt sorry for some of the bands who were playing their hearts out to only a couple of hundred people last time.

"A lot more stalls and supporters are coming down this time, the bank holiday weekend is always the biggest one of the year - we're really going for it."

The line-up will see LinkFest regulars Archive and Sax on Fire headline, while festival virgins East of Java and Bizarre Fish are also on the bill.

Look out also for Guilty Pleasures and Rock School, while guitarist Steve Forward will perform a tribute to Pink Floyd - a show he performed earlier in the year to raise money for the festival.

"This is the third year Archive have played," added Jamie,

"They specialise in older covers like Rod Stewart and The Faces, which appeals to some of the older members.

"Of course Sax on Fire will put on a show as they really know how to work a crowd.

"Bands will be playing until 8.30, so it'll be a bit longer."

Next year will be the fifth LinkFest anniversary and Jamie said he hopes to attract some star names to celebrate the anniversary.

"Thanks to that, I think my show is now better than ever and I can give a performance I'm really proud of and I enjoy."

"In some ways, there is a feeling I have not had the success that I deserve, I can watch Glastonbury and think 'I could be there doing that'."

"But I never want to rest on my laurels, even though I feel I could retire on the hits I've had."

The Playhouse performance will be slap-bang in the middle of a full two-month

UK tour this autumn, which will take in smaller towns as well as cities.

If his performances in his adopted home were anything to go by, then fans are in for a treat.

"The Australian shows were fantastic, really good, and I find that I can do a remarkably similar show over there to what I would do in the UK."

"I'm looking forward to all of them really, but I think the London one at the Hippodrome will be special, as its right in the heart of the city.

"For both tours, I try and really go into the country, as well as playing the major cities."

"People always want to hear the hits, but an audience often enjoy the more obscure tracks from older albums too"

"There are things that cannot be left out of a show, but I'm lucky to have so many hits and it can be a challenge to shoehorn them all in."

So fans old enough to remember the early years of Leo's fame can be rest assured that there will be space for You Make Me Feel Like Dancing, Moonlighting and Giving It All Away.

But listen out for the new tracks Beautiful Year, Competing with a DJ and Leo's pick of the new album One Green World, a song with an environmental comment.

"Of course I love all the tracks, but on OGW, I really wanted to make a statement and really tell people that something needs to be done."

"I'm very lucky to live in something of a Paradise," he says of his new house, located 20 miles from Sydney.

"I really miss England, but the fact is I work so well in exile and I just have to walk out the door to be inspired by natural beauty."

"I'm always keeping in touch with friends. Thanks to the modern world we live in with technology and long distance flights, that job is becoming easier."

"I feel like I've begun something of a second chapter in my life over here."

Of course you can't get to the age of 67 in show business and not have regrets, and Leo wishes he had the opportunity to do more acting throughout his career.

But looking ahead to the future, Leo is able to be satisfied with his success and still enjoyed performing enough to want to continue.

"I'll sing until I drop," he said,

"There are always young guys breaking through, but people don't want to let go of their legends."

Fab fun at the farm

A COMMUNITY farm project in Harlow will host a free music and art festival.

Taking place on Saturday, this year's Farm Fest at the Herts and Essex Community Farm in Foldcroft will feature live music, face painting, stalls, henna artists and a pop-up art gallery.

There's also the chance to try some of the fresh produce grown on the farm and transformed into in a range of tasty vegetarian dishes.

Starting at 1pm, Farm Fest will move to The Square in Fourth Avenue at 8pm, where there will be music from local bands and DJs until the early hours.

The whole event is free until 11pm, although organisers are asking those who wish to come to The Square to bring along a charity food donation for Streets2Homes.

In the last year, community farm volunteers have built a kitchen using donated materials and recycled wood. They have also created two new seating areas, with recycled furniture and seating made from donated wooden pallets.

The varied weather means they have had great success in growing a range of fruit and veg.

This year's crop includes dozens of different types of vegetables and fruit, and various types of herbs.

Organiser Elliot Wollen, said: "We aim to repeat the success of last year's Farm Fest, and hope to attract lots of families, and local residents looking for something interesting to do on the Bank Holiday weekend."

"It would be great if you could join us in celebrating the end of summer at the farm."

FILMGUIDE

Keeping it in the family

Straight Outta Compton, detailing the rise of the world's most notorious rap group N.W.A., is taking the box office by storm. Founding member Ice Cube and his son O'shea Jackson Jr, who stars in the film, give Susan Griffin the low-down on summer's surprise hit

You might think a movie about the rise of gangsta rap group N.W.A sounds somewhat niche, but box office figures are proving anything but. Over in the States, Straight Outta Compton made more than 60 million US dollars in its opening weekend – more than the likes of Disney's Ant-Man and Mission: Impossible – Rogue Nation, starring Tom Cruise.

But the film's success shouldn't really be a surprise. The five members of N.W.A made music that exploded beyond the poverty-stricken urban centres of America and attracted attention all around the world.

Here, Ice Cube and his son O'shea Jackson Jr. talk about bringing the story of brotherhood, triumph, betrayal and tragedy to the big screen.

The movie starts in Compton, southern California, in the late Eighties, when gang warfare and the plague of crack cocaine made the city's streets some of the most dangerous in the country. In response, the LAPD were leading a charge that was merciless.

Against this backdrop, a young weed dealer by the name of Eazy-E reaches out to his friend Dr. Dre, a DJ who spins at a local club with DJ Yella, as well as MC Ren and Ice Cube, to form a rap group that will expose life in the 'hood.

Their voice ignites a social revolution that's still reverberating today. "It's extremely hard to put 10 years into two hours, it's like how do you smash those 10 years? What do you leave in, what do you take out?" notes the physically commanding Ice Cube, who is now 46.

Some critics have complained that the film, directed by F. Gary Gray, skirts over less salubrious events.

"What we did was basically say whatever didn't pertain to N.W.A probably should be left for another movie," explains Ice Cube who, along with Dre, also has a producer credit on the project. "There were 10 movies made about Elvis, and you can probably make 10 movies about NWA and they'd all be different, because our lives were so vivid.

Ice Cube, born O'shea Jackson, has sold more than 10 million albums as a solo artist, forged a successful acting career and amassed an estimated wealth of 140million US dollars. But he'd always had the notion of chronicling the rise of NWA on screen and the revolutionary music that emerged during the group's 10-year span.

Only in 2009 did he come across a script that jump-started the idea of a feature film. "There were so many things happening at the time, but we had to tell it in a three-act, comprehensive movie style," he continues.

And there was no doubt the film would be dedicated to Eazy-E, who passed away in 1995. "Thank God for Eazy, who had the vision and saw this music as the future, the records that people want to hear. He was so adamant about putting Compton on the map, if that's the last thing he did."

When looking for young men to play the five members of NWA, the mandate was performance first, then street cred and likeness to the person they'd be portraying.

Jason Mitchell was chosen to play Eazy-E; Corey Hawkins as Dr. Dre; Neil Brown Jr. as DJ Yella; Aldis Hodge as MC Ren, and Ice Cube's own son, O' Shea Jackson Jr., as the final component.

"I wasn't nervous about playing him, I was nervous about being in a movie, you know?" says the 24-year-old, who bears a striking resemblance to his dad. "I had never acted or anything like that. So the two years of auditioning and acting coaches helped build a confidence within me."

For Jackson Jr., the role became an "obsession", and he admits: "I knew I couldn't go see Straight Outta Compton and watch somebody else play this part. It would've drove me crazy, because I feel that no one can play this part like me."

The experience has brought Jackson Jr., who's now looking to further his acting career, even closer to his dad.

"I learned about my father's courageousness at a young age. He displays an integrity that a lot of people at 17, 18, 19 just don't have, and I think it's something that people should be inspired by."

Talking bout a REVOLUTION

Bread and pasta fans, look away now. The South African authors of The Real Meal Revolution tell Kate Whiting why they believe going carb-free is the key to health and weight control

CUT THE CARBS: That's the message from Jonno Proudfoot

In terms of kitchen 'outlaws', sugar has completely overtaken fat as public enemy number one. In fact, fat has been making something of a comeback in recent years, and the latest advocates to sing its praises are sports scientist and marathon runner Professor Tim Noakes, nutritionist Sally Ann-Creed and chef and open ocean swimmer Jonno Proudfoot.

Their book, The Real Meal Revolution, has taken South Africa by storm and has just landed on UK shores, promising to help people lose weight without giving up all that juicy meat, butter and cream.

There is a catch, though – carbs are strictly off the menu.

This low-carbohydrate, high-fat (LCHF) plan has similarities with the Paleo diet, in that it advocates a return to eating what our ancient ancestors, the hunter-gatherers, ate some 200,000 years ago – before we started cultivating grains. It also draws heavily on the Banting diet devised by British undertaker William Banting, who famously gave up the carb-rich eating habits of the Victorians in the 1860s to cure himself of obesity.

Of course, low or no-carb/high fat and protein diets have always been somewhat controversial, attracting both fierce critics and fans.

Prof Noakes, however, is convinced that this eating regime has benefited his own health. "We've been raised to believe that cholesterol, caused by eating too much fat, causes diseases, and that every disease in the book is linked to a high-fat diet. It turns out that's completely wrong."

4tbsp tahini
Juice of 2 lemons
1 garlic clove, minced
1/4 cup extra virgin olive oil
Approx 100ml water

For the salad:

100g butter
300g cauliflower, cut into small pieces
300g smoked haddock
60g toasted pine nuts
Preheat the oven to 180C (Gas 4).

Method

Melt the butter in the microwave or in a small pan. Place the cauliflower in a small oven tray and drizzle with butter. Roast the cauliflower until it is golden on the edges, around 30 minutes.

Add the haddock to the tray and return to the oven for about 10 minutes. Remove from the oven, break the haddock up and give everything a good mix, either in a bowl or in the tray.

Portion the salad onto plates and scatter with pine nuts.

Combine all the dressing ingredients together in a small bowl and while mixing continuously, pour in the water until you reach a good pouring consistency. Drizzle over the salad before serving.

Note: if you've been good with your carbs for the day, this is epic with some pomegranate seeds scattered over it.

■ The Real Meal Revolution: The Radical, Sustainable Approach To Healthy Eating by Professor Tim Noakes, Jonno Proudfoot and Sally Ann-Creed is published in paperback by Robinson.

Prof Noakes acknowledges it's not a 'one-size fits all' diet, but recommends insulin resistant people, with a family history of diabetes, should try it.

"For most people, once you get over 40 and you're a little overweight, you should be on this diet, because if you're not, you're in trouble."

Whether or not you want to go full-on Revolution, here's a recipe from the book to try at home...

NB: Please consult your doctor before embarking on any extreme diet change, especially if you have a health condition.

Keen as mustard

In this regular feature we pick a different colour or theme and give you some ideas for brightening your home. This week's theme of mustard was dreamt up while we were in the billiard room holding a lead pipe chatting to a reverend and a professor.

THIS "cracked ice" fabric can be used for soft furnishings and general domestic upholstery. Price: £70 from www.flock.org.uk

THIS rug isn't cheap but it will certainly catch the eye as the centrepiece of your lounge. Price: £1,823.04 from www.rugcouture.com

YOU have to look at this print of an elephant and a hand shadow for a little while to figure out what it is a picture of. Price: £39 from www.clareloves.co.uk

CHOPPING boards normally look so unremarkable but this one looks a little more fun. Price: £8.75 from www.koziol-shop.co.uk

PROPERTY TALK >with NIGEL LEWIS

Designed by a great Scot

FAMOUS Scot Charles Rennie Mackintosh is one of the artistic figures currently being considered by the Bank of England for the back of the new £20 note.

The architect, designer, water colourist and artist was a post impressionist who spearheaded this country's Art Nouveau movement in the early 20th century. He had a huge influence on design and buildings, and one of his most famous – the Mackintosh Building at the Glasgow School of Art – is set to be restored after it was severely damaged by fire in May last year.

Mackintosh also designed this quirky artist's cottage and studio, in Farr, near Inverness in the Scottish Highlands, which he'd planned for his and wife Margaret's retirement. It was never built for the couple, but was finally constructed using the original design in 1992 by Scottish architect Robert Macintyre.

The Artist's Cottage is a two-storey 'cube' consisting of a main living area and studio, alongside a single storey cottage and walled garden. It includes many features associated with the Art Nouveau figure, including traditional Mackintosh designed windows. The interior is painted in traditional white and cream, and there's a balcony from a first-floor studio/reception room as well as a roof terrace with panoramic views.

Current owners Hans and Ria van Kessel have lived in the six-bedroom house since 1997 and have enjoyed opening it up to B&B guests, mainly Mackintosh fans eager to experience what it's like to live in one of the homes he designed down to the last stair rail.

On the market for £650,000, the Scottish Highland retreat could be rented out as self-catering accommodation that sleeps up to 12 people.

Ideal home for a Labour-ite?

WANNABE Labour leader Jeremy Corbyn could be marching towards victory after getting the backing of big unions Unison and Unite. While the worker's favourite is feverishly holding a series of meetings to help secure more votes, the home of another socialist figure has come on the market.

Martyrs Cottage, the former home of Thomas Standfield, played host to secret meetings of the Tolpuddle Martyrs – a group of Dorset agricultural labourers in 1832.

They were angry about agricultural workers' meagre pay being cut and swore a secret oath as members of the Friendly Society of Agricultural Labourers. However, local squire and landowner, James Frampton, caught wind of the oath-swearing, which was illegal at the time. They were sentenced to seven years in Australia, which caused a working class upswell of support for the popular heroes; a massive demonstration marched through London and an 800,000-strong petition was delivered to Parliament.

After three years, the government relented and the men returned home with free pardons and as heroes.

Standfield's former three bedroom grade 1 listed cottage near Dorchester – on the market for £300,000 – is full of character and boasts off-road parking and a spacious garden.

The sitting room has an open fire, L-shaped kitchen and diner, while there's a master bedroom with stairs to a dressing room with cloakroom, second bedroom with stairs to the alleged secret meeting-room-cum-loft-room and a further third bedroom and main bathroom.

Don't you... fancy this place?

SIMPLE Minds frontman Jim Kerr has been running a hotel on the Italian island of Sicily for more than a decade.

While he's found happiness in hospitality, his band – one of the most successful stadium acts of the 1980s – has enjoyed a bit of a renaissance in recent years. They're still touring and released an album earlier this year.

The Glaswegian rocker has also built an impressive property portfolio, owning homes in London and his home town. He also once lived in this traditional shooting lodge and it's where he did a lot of songwriting and recording too.

According to news site Deadline, Kerr bought the Scots renaissance property for £250,000 in the 1990s and after restoring and modernising his 'waterfront' home, put it on the market in 2010 for £600,000.

The seven-bedroom Ardhullarie Lodge has just been put on the market with a price tag of £1.3m.

Despite a hefty increase over the past five years, the current owner, an American car salesman, claims he has done very little except to give it a fresh coat of paint.

The lodge, overlooking Loch

Lubnag in the Loch Lomond and the Trossachs National Park, comes with 42 acres of land.

Built in 1920, the main house has a large conservatory, dining room, game larder and study while there is also a two-bedroom cottage and a three-bedroom annex.

The pad where Beyonce was Bootylicious

Fancy getting a bit of extra income from your property? You can pocket hundreds of pounds a day for a magazine shoot while film crews will fork out up to £2,500 for the keys to your home.

Many TV directors clamour to film in this light and airy loft apartment and the current owners have rented it out for numerous music videos, adverts and magazine shoots. While she was still part of R&B girl group Destiny's Child – before the group split in 2006 – global superstar Beyoncé filmed a music video here.

The trendy pad has played host to interviews with singer George Michael, ex-England footballer Paul Gascoigne and Gloria Hunniford. Big corporations have also come knocking as McDonalds, Burger King, Abbey National and Samsung have all filmed adverts here.

In the capital's trendy Hackney, Haybridge House was converted from a former toy factory into large live/work loft apartments in 1997, and this two-bedroom, two-bathroom space set out over two floors, makes the most of its brilliant natural light to attract film crews.

It's set in a peaceful cobbled courtyard with secure gated off-street parking and is on the market for £1.1m.

The apartment has recently been remodelled, according to agent Urban Spaces, and at 2,400sq ft, says it's "vast, immaculately presented...and truly breathtaking". Luxury extras include under-floor heated limestone floors and a new kitchen, while there's also a mezzanine reception room, which overlooks the downstairs living space.

Scrap Cars

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

HARLOW COLLEGE

Would you like to be part of an award winning College, with a strong commitment to student success?

Harlow College has the following exciting opportunities for Tutors:

The Tutor works with students and other members of the team to ensure each student achieve their daily targets. You will be required to deliver, assess and develop the learner experience to enable them to achieve their learning goals, in accordance with the College's values and ethos.

TUTOR -CARPENTRY

The programs the Construction team delivers are designed to engage and motivate students who are interested in learning about the various roles that are available in the Construction industry and supporting learners to develop the knowledge and skills required to work in industry. The programs provide a suitable foundation for progress to appropriate destinations, such as apprenticeships and employment.

TUTOR -MOTOR VEHICLES

The programs the Motor Vehicles team delivers are designed to engage and motivate students who are interested in learning about the maintenance of motor vehicles and the various roles that are available in the retail motor industry. They utilize practical based investigations and assessments of the motor vehicle and its sub-systems. This is supported by the use of dedicated computer software for the delivery of theoretical knowledge. The programs can supplement progress to appropriate destinations, such as apprenticeships and employment.

This college is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children, young people and vulnerable adults and expects all staff and volunteers to share this commitment. This post is subject to an enhanced DBS check.

As an equal opportunities employer we welcome applications from all sections of the community.

The successful candidate can expect investment in their personal and professional development as well as an excellent benefits package including 42 days annual leave plus bank holidays.

Salary: £24,071.00 to 28,636.00 Permanent, Full Time

TOWN AND COUNTRY PLANNING ACT 1990

THE SECRETARY OF STATE hereby gives notice of the proposal to make an Order under section 247 of the above Act to authorise the stopping up of an irregular shaped area of highway adjoining the car park lying to the south west of the community centre off Fourth Avenue at Harlow, in the District of Harlow.

IF THE ORDER IS MADE, the stopping up will be authorised only to enable development to be carried out should planning permission be granted by Harlow Council. The Secretary of State gives notice of the draft Order under Section 253 (1) of the 1990 Act but will only consider making the Order in the event that planning permission is granted.

COPIES OF THE DRAFT ORDER AND RELEVANT PLAN will be available for inspection during normal opening hours at the Post Office, 1 Stone Cross, Harlow, CM20 1AA in the 28 days commencing on 27 August 2015, and may be obtained, free of charge, from the Secretary of State (quoting NATTRAN/E/S247/1904) at the address stated below.

ANY PERSON MAY OBJECT to the making of the proposed order by stating their reasons in writing to the Secretary of State at nationalcasework@dftr.gsi.gov.uk or National Transport Casework Team, Tyndeside House, Skinnerburn Road, Newcastle upon Tyne, NE4 7AR, quoting the above reference. Objections should be received by midnight on 24 September 2015. You are advised that your personal data and correspondence will be passed to the applicant/agent to enable your objection to be considered. If you do not wish your personal data to be forwarded, please state your reasons when submitting your objection.

YOUR STARS WITH

ARIES MARCH 21 - APRIL 20

Your imagination is going to be working overtime and so it's going to be easy for you to accuse your closest of things they wouldn't even think about doing. Take time out for you and make a list of what and who should be important. You may be surprised by what other things take this week onwards. Ring now to hear why it's worth re-reading all emails, letters and texts this week.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 348 65p per minute

TAURUS APRIL 21 - MAY 21

An arrogant frame of mind could see you saying things you will come to regret. Slow your pace and think about how your words may seem to others. As your sign depicts you can be like a bull in a china shop and it's time you thought about the repercussions. A slower pace can earn you the respect of someone you've longed to get closer to. Ring to hear why it's worth accepting wedding invites.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 349 65p per minute

GEMINI MAY 22 - JUNE 21

You have said some things you now regret, but try to cut yourself some slack from today and look ahead, not back. Experience is what makes us wise and, as the Moon enables you to see with clarity on Sunday what needs to be done to fix things, you can get back in the driving seat. A meeting with a face from the past brings a confession. Call me now to hear how family promise live.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 350 65p per minute

CANCER JUNE 22 - JULY 22

Others may find it hard to keep to the appointments they've made with you. You may have to apologise to third parties you've involved in your arrangements due to other's lack of thought. Invitations to large events could well open up an exciting new chapter for you with relationships, especially if you have to travel far for them. Ring now so I can tell you all you need to know.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 351 65p per minute

LEO JULY 23 - AUGUST 23

Your mood goes up and down this week and it proves hard for you to know what decisions you should be making to advance your cause. Take your time and slow down as to rush things will only make you feel insecure about the path you're on. Gemini's help to lighten your mood and also show you how much can be gained from making you a priority. Ring now for a peak at your future.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 352 65p per minute

VIRGO AUGUST 24 - SEPTEMBER 22

Work overload is a problem for many of your sign. Try to take it easy and don't promise things you may not be able to deliver. You always were an ambitious sign, but don't be silly and undo all of the good work this week, but far so far seen you do. New friends could turn into something more this week, but take it slow and don't reveal too much too soon. Call me for more on this exciting week.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 353 65p per minute

LIBRA SEPTEMBER 23 - OCTOBER 23

Trying to balance work and play may prove difficult this week, but try to acknowledge this sooner rather than later and make a good game plan for yourself. Time spent working out a better budget for yourself can see you being able to afford something which was previously out of your reach. Give me a ring now to hear why it's worth checking in with family members this weekend.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 354 65p per minute

SCORPIO OCTOBER 24 - NOVEMBER 21

Time spent thinking about the past can help you work out what to do next with your future. Your thinking will be clear and you'll be able to see with ease how you can create the base you've needed. The home may require you to spend more money than you would like but is sure to save you a small fortune in the long run. Call now to hear why it's worth filling in forms.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 355 65p per minute

SAGITTARIUS NOVEMBER 22 - DECEMBER 20

Your personal life is highlighted and you may have to admit to something you would rather have remained hidden from close ones. This isn't a bad thing, but a form of cleansing; acknowledging the past and making a fresh start. Knowing this can help you move on with confidence instead of with fear. Give me a call now to hear why this is the perfect week to admit how your heart is feeling.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 356 65p per minute

CAPRICORN DECEMBER 21 - JANUARY 20

Time is not on your side when making decisions and you may have to make your mind up on the spur of the moment when you and I know that earth signs such as you need time to adjust to new things. Don't be scared. I know you can take on this week's challenges with style and grace. Give me a call now to hear how news of new beginnings is winning its way to you.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 357 65p per minute

AQUARIUS JANUARY 21 - FEBRUARY 19

Your career comes under the spotlight and if any of you Aquarians were thinking of going into education then do it. Adding more strings to your bow can only be an asset, not a setback. Showing confidence to a younger person can make all the difference between failure and success. Ring now to hear why you may soon be taking long trips at short notice in September.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 358 65p per minute

PISCES FEBRUARY 20 - MARCH 20

News you were dreading will actually turn out to be helpful to your life rather than being the setback you expected. Fellow Pisces help you make your life a more enjoyable and comfortable place to be. Going over work you've already done at the beginning of the week can ensure you stay looking the total professional. Ring now to hear who can't stop thinking about you at the moment.

PERSONAL BEST: Harlow Running Club's Robin Lozeau

Athletes run flat out for great times

TWO Harlow Running Club members took advantage of a flat course at the Edmonton Parkrun 5K to record personal best times (PB) for the distance.

Robin Lozeau finished in ninth place out of 39 finishers in 21min 47sec and Alan Wellbelove was 12th in 24:13.

Meanwhile at the Harlow Parkrun 5K, Darren Tiley finished in seventh place out of 112 finishers in 21:52.

He was followed home by Terry Ridge (11th in 22:41), Paul Dixon (16th in 23:31), Martyn Coulter (21st in 24:29 PB), Spencer Brooks (25th in 25:00), Louise Cootes (48th in 29:00), Debbie Cooper (59th in 30:35) and Pushpa Mistry (68th in 32:02).

At the Hatfield Forset Parkrun 5K Graham Saville finished in 32nd place out of 138 finishers in 23:37.

He was followed by Terry Pike (44th in 24:34), David Page (56th in 25:26) and Janice Page (62nd and second Female Vet 50 in 25:47).

At the Weymouth Parkrun 5K Jamie Jephcott came home in sixth place out of 271 finishers and was first Vet 40 in an excellent 18:51.

At the Gunpowder Parkrun 5K at Waltham Abbey Colin Moody ended up in 28th place out of 124 finishers in 23:10.

At the Kimbolton Castle Half Marathon in Cambridgeshire Justin Patten finished in 229th place out of 583 finishers in 1hr 48min 02sec.

He was followed by Martyn Poulter (311th in 1:55:26), Debbie Barry (447th in 2:08:59) and Darren Tiley (448th in 2:09:00).

At Leila's Run at Wheathampstead, a multi-terrain marathon, Andy Kinney came home in 84th place out of 110 finishers in 5:55:03.

Chinn up on the rankings

TEN-year-old Maxwell Chinn improved his time at Chelmsford in the weekly junior (U15s) parkrun over 2k at Central Park.

The former Henry Moore pupil, who lives in Harlow, followed the pace set by his older training partner Sidnie Ward, 12, returning after a two week break by running 6mins 57sec for the 2k course.

Sidnie was just nine seconds ahead in 6:48.

These times place Sidnie second and Maxwell fourth on the all time list of youngsters who have run this course since it started early last year 2014.

Maxwell's previous best was 7:10.

Boss hails his Hawks' character after victory

First win in five gets Harlow challenge back on track

by Alasdair Gold

alsadair.gold@hertsexnews.co.uk

Ryman North

Barkingside 1
Harlow Town 2

HARLOW Town boss Danny Chapman hailed his players after they battled back to beat Barkingside on Monday night.

"The Hawks' results have been indifferent so far this Ryman North season, so Chapman was happy with a victory which kicks them up the fledgling table.

"No disrespect to Barkingside, but it's not the nicest of places to go on a Monday night in the driving rain," he said.

"It was a hard-fought win. In the first half I wouldn't say we played particularly well, but we created a few good chances. We could have been 3-1 or 4-1 up.

"Second half, we were on top of the game and scored a great second goal.

Backbone

"We showed a bit of backbone and character, from being 1-0 down to win 2-1. One win can make things look a whole lot brighter."

One new face in the Hawks' line-up was goalkeeper Alex Rossis, who joined from Ryman Premier side Leiston ahead of the game.

The 28-year-old has previously been on the books of Greek side Panathinaikos.

"Alex is a very well-known goalkeeper and we brought him in for a bit of experience," said Chapman.

"We played him and gave Niklas [Freund] a rest. He did ok on his debut."

Harlow went into Monday night's match without a win in five outings.

It was Barkingside who went ahead when Andre Spencer tried his luck from distance.

His long range shot flew into the net past Rossis.

Harlow tried to hit back quickly as Fabion Simms played the ball through for Harry Prince to run on to, but former Hawks keeper Darren Behcet spread himself well and smothered his shot.

Prince then got on the end of an Alex Read cross, but volleyed wide, while at the other end Jonathan Nzenzo saw his shot go just wide of the Harlow post.

The visitors hit back just before the half-time break.

Ryan Melaugh's free-kick was palmed away, and the resulting Prince corner was flicked on by the boot of Melaugh, allowing Read to tap in from close range.

Barkingside threatened early in the second half as Jonathan Adebayo dragged an effort wide.

Read was inches away from a Junior Dadson cross before the winner came on 74 minutes.

Barkingside's Dapo Abitogun saw his shot blocked by Ibrahim Sonko in front of the Harlow goal allowing the Hawks to counter-attack.

A neat passing move ended with substitute Joe Benjamin crossing for Melaugh to head home from close range.

Barkingside piled on the pressure late on, but could not find a leveller.

■ ON Saturday, the Hawks were unable to break down a determined Romford side at home.

Ibrahima Sonko was wearing the captain's armband after Dave Cowley's departure and saw a couple of headed chances saved.

The deadlock was broken on 43 minutes. Romford left-back Jamie Dicks sent a 30-yard cross deep into the box, which missed everyone and dipped under the bar.

Harlow upped the tempo in the second half and began to use their possession to create chances.

The equaliser came from an attack down the left.

Ryan Melaugh flew down the wing, before delivering a pinpoint cross into the six-yard box.

Billy Jones, in his last game for the Hawks before relocating to Gloucester, headed home.

In the dying minutes the Hawks had chances to find a winner, but it was not to be.

Khawaja hits 92 during run-fest

Cricket

HARLOW Cricket Club were involved in a high scoring draw with Upminster on Saturday.

Once Upminster posted a huge total of 317-3, it was always going to be unrealistic for Harlow to chase, especially as they were missing some key players for the Shepherd Neame Essex League Division One clash.

Upminster openers James Evans (61) and Shafiq Rahman (110) put on 160 for the first wicket, eventually broken by Hafiz Yawar, who took the three Upminster wickets to fall.

Hafiz finished with figures of 3-51 from his overs.

Harlow began their innings with the intention of trying to force a result.

However the Upminster attack bowled with good control and limited the scoring opportunities for the Harlow players.

Alan Jones fell for 15 and skipper for the day Jon Perry for 32.

The steady accumulation of Yawar (52) and the power hitting of Ahmed Khawaja (92 not out) could not bring Harlow close enough for an assault on Upminster's total.

After the exit of Hafiz, Ahmed managed to get the maximum batting points for Harlow as they finished on 207-4 from 45 overs.

The second team got as close to victory as possible against local rivals Harlow Town, needing one wicket to claim the win, but had to take the draw.

Harlow were put in to bat by the visitors, but made a strong start with Dan Stopp (31) and Dip Basnet (89) dominating.

Nathan Khelawon scored an impressive 41 on his first league start for the seconds. Luke Hesket (41) and Mitch Howarde (21) saw Harlow to 250-6.

The pick of the Town bowlers was Vic Goddard who finished with 3-49 from his 11 overs.

In reply Harlow struck early with Lewis Aldred claiming both openers in his first spell.

Goddard (28) and Bilal Ali (50) brought Town back into it, but once they were out, Town were forced to bat for the draw with only former Harlow player Jay Lowles (25) troubling the scorers.

Lewis Aldred (6-40) and Luke Heskett (2-21) impressed.

BIG HITTER: Ahmed Khawaja put in a great display for Harlow

Clubs just can't keep up with the Jones boy

Run machine eyes 10,000 milestone – and he's 14!

by Alan Scott

alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

TO score nearly 9,000 runs in three years is a phenomenal achievement for any cricketer, but for a 14-year-old it takes some doing.

No wonder Harlow Cricket Club's Alan Jones has been identified as an emerging player with Essex County Cricket Club.

He has been playing for the county team at age group levels, under the stewardship of Emerging Players & Academy head coach Barry Hyam and coach Terry Charrington, since 2013.

This season he advanced to the U15 team, helping them to the finals day of a national 20/20 competition after beating Gloucestershire away last week.

He has played a large number of matches for Essex this year, batting at number five and scoring 2,200 runs.

He has been playing up an age group at Chelmsford, while his time at Shepherd Neame Essex League Division One club Harlow on a Saturday has seen him cement a place in the first team this season.

Back in 2013 when he played his first season in men's cricket for Rob Coldwell's fourth team, he struck a century in only his second game.

His progress saw him promoted to the second team last season and he opened the batting for the first team at Marigolds this year.

The youngster has also been keeping wicket for Rehman Ahmed's side as they have mounted a strong challenge for promotion off the back of a tremendous run over the last six weeks, when they won four matches consecutively.

His father, Chris, started accumulating his runs when his son first broke through at Harlow.

His tally of more than 8,700 runs includes those at Essex, Harlow and some for his school, The Broxbourne School, in East Herts, near the family home.

Chris explained: "In four years he is close to 9000 runs [for adult teams]. We have tended to try to track every game, since he was 11. This season his average is just over 50. Over the last four years about 64.

"He has scored over 8,700 runs at an average of 64. That includes everything, from fairly low average school games to first team cricket, [Essex] county [and] Harlow [Cricket Club].

"In about June or July he will get to the 10,000 mark. It means a lot to us and absolutely nothing to everyone else. Some of the runs are at school and they don't go on the Play Cricket website.

"Hopefully June or July [next year] he could break through that 10,000 run mark."

After 18 league matches this season he had scored 539 runs for Harlow. His highest score was 87 against Southend-on-Sea, while he has averaged just under 32 in that time.

Indebted

Alan is indebted to the help he receives from former Essex first-team wicket-keeper Hyam and Charrington.

He said: "Terry Charrington has been helping me with my batting. Barry Hyam has helped me out with my keeping a lot.

"They are trying to make me more versatile, getting me to bat up and down the order. I shouldn't specialise at an early age.

"I'm never too nervous when I open the batting. I find it more nerve-racking coming in at five. I've been opening my whole life, it feels a lot more natural. You can apply it to every game, as it's always the same situation.

"I started playing because of my father. When I'm batting I think 'just watch the ball'. I try to get the premeditation out of my head."

Youngster's huge debt to Harlow CC

ALAN JONES admits he owes a huge debt to Harlow skipper Rehman Ahmed and experienced batsmen Hafiz Yawar and Ahmed Khawaja as he has excelled in his debut season for the first team.

The 14-year-old (pictured above), who will be in Year 10 when he returns to school next week, actually prefers playing for the Marigolds team than the Essex U15s, where he has scored more than 2,200 runs since April.

When asked what England and Essex players he looked up to as favourites or role models, he was quick to say: "I enjoy watching the Harlow first team play. They mentor me very well."

His father Chris added: "To be part of that top four is pretty special."

It has been a fantastic year for Alan, who has opened the batting and also kept wicket for Harlow as Rehman's side have come close to promotion despite competing against much bigger clubs with much bigger budgets.

Alan said: "Some of the guys [at Harlow] have played professionally. I enjoy playing with the adults. The standard's higher, but there's less pressure on you.

Hoping

"When I first came to the club at 11 I was watching these guys [Rehman and Khawaja] and hoping I could be as good as them.

"All of a sudden you are playing with them and it's really good, and then you start batting with them and it feels a great experience from watching them at a young age and wishing to be as good as them."

When quizzed on what specifically they have helped with, he said: "Not really technically, but mentally, getting you ready to score runs and taking the pressure off.

"When we are chasing 300 runs, they are like 'don't worry about scoring runs, I'll do it'. "That really helps, it takes a lot of pressure off your shoulders.

"It has been a step up. When you play up and go back down it feels a lot easier. It's good. You're playing a higher standard and getting used to a higher standard."

The highlight might have been the club record-breaking chase in the win over Hutton in July. Khawaja's incredible knock of 158 helped Harlow surpass what seemed an impossible tally of 371-6.

Chris said: "What was Alan's contribution in that – zero. He was bowled first ball by the Essex coach who dropped him [earlier in his career].

"Alan thought 'I'm going to show you' and promptly nicked him first ball."

But that was clearly a small blip on a magnificent season for this talented teenager.

The only way is Essex for Alan

ALAN JONES' dream is to play for the Essex County Cricket Club first team, following in the footsteps of England skipper Alastair Cook.

"Because he's on the emerging players programme he gets a lot of time with [Essex CCC academy coach] Terry Charrington," said Alan's father Chris.

"In the county they will have been batting him at five, six or seven, generally five."

Winter will come along and the cricket season will end, but dedicated Alan is a familiar sight at Harlow's Marigolds ground, in the nets practising his art from December to February with the help of a bowling machine.

"Last winter he broke about five bats because it was so cold. That's when most of the training happens," explained Chris.

"Harlow are good enough to let him in there through the winter. Summer is just games. Also in the winter they are doing Essex training Tuesdays and Thursdays, so that's quite a commitment there.

"He only started playing because his older brother Simon started playing.

"His development has been massively associated with the fact that he is playing first team cricket here at Harlow.

"They looked after him brilliantly when he was 12, playing fourth team. When he was 13 playing second team, and now at 14 looking after him brilliantly in the first team.

"It's the first year he's ever kept wicket, but in terms of the way the club has looked after him and pushed him through, I attribute an awful lot of his development to that, because the club has looked after him.

"A lot of clubs don't. They either don't give kids an opportunity, or bat and play them out of position.

"Or they put too much pressure on them. None of that's happened here. You learn a lot batting, not from playing against kids your own age but he learns a lot from being with experienced guys of 30 years old.

"They have played professional cricket, they are experienced guys who have played professional cricket.

"You are asking who does he look up to and it is these guys down here: [Harlow skipper] Rehman [Ahmed], Hafiz [Yawar] and [Ahmed] Khawaja. In my view these are the games we look forward to, more than the county games.

"They are naturally calm guys – that's sort of priceless.

"When he was 12 [playing for the Harlow fourth team] with Rob Coldwell [skipper] he said 'right you're opening, don't worry about the run rate just go and bat'. It just takes all the pressure off.

"His development would not have happened like this if he was with a different club."

HISTORY BOYS:
The Clark brothers
(from left) Ryan,
Alfie and James

Real family affair as brothers set records

HISTORY was made as the three Clark brothers all took to the pitch at the same time for Harlow Rugby Club's first team.

Saturday's 41-31 pre-season friendly defeat to Welwyn may not have brought a positive scoreline, but it brought plenty of cheer for the records set on the day.

Not only was it the first time in the club's history that three brothers have played together for the first team, but at 17 years and 12 days old, Alfie is now the youngest player to have appeared in the team.

Oldest brother James is 25 and is a back row forward, Ryan is 22 and a centre, and Alfie normally plays fly-half for the Essex colts, but he played full-back on Saturday for Harlow.

Their father Adam is Harlow's chairman of youth rugby.

"I'm extremely proud of them. They're good boys as well," he said. "Alfie played the whole match, with James and Ryan coming on as subs, but they were all on the pitch at the same time. There was certainly a bit of banter going between them."

He added: "James has been involved with the first team in recent years, as well as playing for the twos.

"Ryan has just come back from three years at Portsmouth University and has just got his degree. He is going to have to work his way back in.

"Alfie looks like he's going to be part of the set-up for the rest of the season. He's got to work hard as well."

The trio have played at Harlow for many years, so it was a proud moment for all when they played together on Saturday.

"They've been at the club since they were children," said their father. "I've been involved at the club since I was 13. I played all the way through from juniors to seniors. The kids have always been involved in rugby."

"They've always had a youth section, but the mini section only started about 15 years ago. They would have started then."

"My wife, Eve, also played for the club. She suffered an ankle injury though and now is heavily involved in the social side of the club. She doesn't play anymore, a bit like myself, leaving it to the younger ones."

RALLYING CALL: Neil Gladwin

Skipper calls on team to beat the drop

HARLOW Town captain Neil Gladwin is hoping his side can guarantee their survival this weekend in Shepherd Neame Essex Cricket League Division Two.

The skipper was left frustrated by his team's defeat on Saturday against Gidea Park & Romford and is now calling on the players to beat Stanford Le Hope this weekend.

"We need to brush ourselves down and get ready for Saturday," he said.

"We take on Stanford Le Hope, who we came up with last year, but this year it is a real basement battle. We are 33 points above them and 39 points clear of Ardleigh Green."

"A win on Saturday will guarantee our survival, but a loss to them will make the last game of the season incredibly nervy."

"Everybody in the side knows how important this game is, so we need to try to relax and, I've said this many times, play to our potential, then we will survive to regroup over the winter."

International

On Saturday Harlow won the toss against in-form Gidea Park and Romford and elected to bat.

Former West Indies one day international Shawn Findlay, reduced them to 10-2 as both Shiraz Ali and Ramya Upadhyay edged deliveries behind.

However Ashley Alderson and Pat Yates (53) scored freely in a 107-run partnership.

Alderson's innings came to an end on 59 with a caught and bowled chance.

This sparked a collapse as Gidea Park reduced Harlow to 135-7.

Gladwin and Shaun Alderson took Harlow past the 150 mark, but they were eventually all out for a disappointing score of 170.

Findlay and fellow opener Hewitt tore into Harlow Town's bowling attack as the run rate didn't fall below 10 runs per over.

Findlay's 86 took just 43 balls and destroyed any faint hopes that Harlow Town had of producing a miraculous victory.

Gidea Park wrapped up victory in just 19.2 overs to leave Harlow Town with a disappointing four points from the contest.

NO PANIC AFTER SKIPPER LEAVES

Hawks boss refuses to rush into making new signings

HAWKS boss Danny Chapman will not rush to replace Dave Cowley after his skipper made the move across Essex to Thurrock.

Cowley was a major part of Harlow Town's play-off push last season and was voted Supporters' Player of the Year.

However, after a seven-day approach was made by fellow Ryman North side Thurrock, the midfielder decided to make the switch to the Hawks' Essex rivals after just a few games of the new season.

"I thought he was part of the fabric here, but he's had a change of heart and decided that he wanted to move on," explained Chapman.

"I don't want to try to keep people who don't want to be at the football club."

"If you don't want to be here then don't be here. It's how we've always been at this football club and Dave felt that he wanted to move on to new ventures."

He added: "We're a little bit light on bodies at the moment. We've got some injuries and Billy Jones has left the club because he's moved to Gloucester."

"Obviously with Dave leaving the club we're even more light."

"We are looking to bring some people in, but it's not something that will happen overnight. It's a process."

Experienced defender Ibrahima Sonko has taken on the captain's armband for the matches since Cowley's departure.

Monday night's 2-1 win at Barkingside (see page 74) put the Hawks back on track after just one win in their first four league matches of the new season.

"Everyone expected us to come out flying because of what we did last year, but that's not always the case," said Chapman.

"We've only lost once in the league and we're now only two points off the top.

"Because we haven't won all our games, it's all about what's gone wrong. There's nothing wrong. We've just lost a game and drawn a couple."

He added: "The Wroxham game we should have come away with all three points, albeit an individual mistake cost us the two points."

Bigger picture

"If you look at Saturday's game against Romford, it's again down to a mistake as in the second half we smashed them."

"It's not like we've been beaten badly. We would have liked another win, but it's not to be."

"There's still a lot of games to go and people need to relax a bit and look at the bigger picture. We'll be fine."

This Bank Holiday weekend brings a double header as Harlow welcome Essex Senior League side Southend Manor in the FA Cup on Saturday and then host Redbridge in the league on Monday.

"Southend Manor are potentially a big banana skin for us," admitted the Hawks boss.

"I don't know too much about them if I'm being honest, but they deserve to be in this round of the cup. I'm sure they'll come looking for nothing else than a win."

"We need to make sure we're right mentally and physically and prepared in the right way."

"I would say that if we do that and everyone knows what they're meant to do then we should win. It's the FA Cup and anything's possible though."

He added: "On Monday we've got Redbridge. They had a reprieve last year after being relegated, but they've started this season well."

"Again it's about looking after ourselves and our bodies after Saturday's game."

MOVING ON: Skipper Dave Cowley has joined Thurrock
